2020 Annual Update

More than $280 million granted to date in greater Boston alone

Cummings $20 Million Grant Program

One hundred thirty local nonprofits—serving Essex, Middlesex, and Suffolk counties—were awarded funding through the new Cummings $20 Million Grant Program. This initiative resulted from a merger of the $100K for 100 and Sustaining Grants programs.

More than 150 volunteers worked throughout the year to select the 2020 grant recipients and to maintain relationships with current grantees. This dedicated group of community members pored over applications, reviewed Impact Reports, completed site visits, and analyzed budgets. They wrote reports of their own and met with their teams to collaboratively decide the winners. The grant recipients are a diverse group of nonprofit organizations focused on education, homelessness prevention, human services, healthcare, social justice, and other vital causes.

More information about the 2020 grants programs and a complete list of the nearly 1,000 grant winners since the program began in 2012 are available at CummingsFoundation.org.

University of Global Health Equity

University of Global Health Equity's (UGHE) world-class campus is now home to nearly 180 students, staff, and faculty. In 2019, UGHE's Cummings Institute of Global Health, including the Master's in Global Health Delivery and the Center for One Health, graduated 46 students from 11 different nations, the majority of whom now work in organizations dedicated to serving underrepresented rural communities, women and girls, and youth. The School of Medicine, housing the Bachelor of Medicine/ Bachelor of Surgery and Master of Global Health Delivery program, welcomed its inaugural class, 67 percent of whom are women, for this six-and-a-half year program. All students receive 100 percent financial aid in exchange for six to nine years of work in underserved areas.

UGHE recently launched new centers, institutes, and departments to help further its mission, including the Center for Gender Equity, Center for Nursing & Midwifery, Institute for Global Health Equity Research, and Center of Equity in Global Surgery. These new initiatives demonstrate UGHE's commitment to continued impact on global health delivery with a focus on the most vulnerable communities.

This is such wonderful news when we all need it most!

Our COVID-19 Response

During a time of considerable upheaval, it has been inspiring to see the nonprofit community not only continue its important work but also step up to address the many new needs created by the novel coronavirus. Cummings Foundation is most grateful for their efforts and was pleased to support their missions in a variety of ways.

Emergency Funding: Cummings Foundation committed $1 million to assist those most affected by the COVID-19 crisis. It donated $500,000 to the Massachusetts COVID-19 Relief Fund, and made grants of $100,000 to each of five other local emergency funds.

Flexibility: Recognizing that the rapidly evolving public health crisis was significantly affecting the operations of many nonprofits, the Foundation invited grantees to redeploy some funds from their most recent Cummings grant installments to address their most urgent needs.

Expedited Funding: The Foundation offered early payments—in April rather than June—to previous recipients of active multi-year grants. Thanks to the efforts of a dedicated group of Foundation volunteers, we were able to expedite the review and approval of Impact Reports as well as the processing of these installments, which many organizations needed urgently.

Grant Recipients

These organizations are all receiving grant funding from Cummings Foundation in 2020. For a complete list of all grant winners to date, please visit cummingsfoundation.org/recipients.

This level of philanthropy is possible, in large part, thanks to the more than 2,000 businesses that lease space in buildings that are owned by—or are operated for the sole benefit of—Cummings Foundation. Cummings $20MILLION GRANT PROGRAM substantial contributions from the Cummings family, often through commercial real estate firm Cummings Properties, LLC. Cummings Foundation directly operates its own charitable subsidiaries, including Veterinary School at Tufts, LLC and two New Horizons retirement communities, in Marlborough and Woburn. Cummings Foundation's grant-making affiliates support nonprofits serving Middlesex, Essex, and Suffolk counties in Massachusetts as well as a limited number of international organizations that focus primarily on Rwanda. More information is available at CummingsFoundation.org.

Established in 1986 by Joyce and Bill Cummings of Winchester, MA, Cummings Foundation, Inc. is one of the largest private foundations in New England. Based in Woburn, it has been the beneficiary of

New Horizons

In addition to offering daily Mass, New Horizons at Marlborough's on-site chapel provides a variety of opportunities for residents who are interested in deepening their involvement in this important spiritual tradition. Currently, 20 of the secular community's approximately 430 residents contribute to the service as Eucharistic ministers, lectors, ushers, and sacristans. Residents have also become involved outside of the traditional Mass celebration by helping to rebuild the chapel's carillon and organize its music. New volunteers are always welcome, and training is gladly provided.

New Horizons at Choate appointed two new trustees, Suzanne Berghaus-Norton and Dennis McElhiney. Berghaus-Norton, a certified dementia care practitioner, has nearly 20 years of experience in the human services field. A licensed clinical social worker at the Jenks Center in Winchester, she coordinates social and educational programming, facilitates support groups, and acts as an informational resource for the public. A lifelong Woburn resident, McElhiney has also enjoyed a career in public service. After graduating from Woburn Memorial High School, he earned a B.S. in history and an M.S. in education from the former Boston State College. He then returned to Woburn Memorial High to teach social studies for the remainder of his career.

Cummings School Answers the Call

Dr. Alastair Cribb, the dean of Cummings School of Veterinary Medicine at Tufts University, knew that the COVID-19 outbreak provided opportunities for the school to help. In April, Cribb joined forces with state representative David K. Muradian, Jr. and hand delivered a supply of personal protective equipment (PPE) to UMass Memorial Medical Center.

This delivery was part of a broader effort by the university to support its local communities and hospitals during the pandemic. Cummings School ultimately donated several thousand pieces of PPE from the school's various clinics and labs, plus four ventilators.

In an effort to increase food security for the members of its community, Cummings School Farm is donating 30 dozen eggs per week to local food pantries. "We want to do as much as we can," Cribb said.
